Gordon Cook of 1082 Pennsylvania street, Lomita, was driver of the truck, and he asserted that he was driving up the hill in second gear when the accident occurred.

Apparently, Sanguinette thought he would not have time to pass the truck before it met an oncoming car, and attempted to stop in the rear of the truck, but crashed into it.

The little girl was treated at a Redondo hospital.

Mrs. Earl Mann of Walnut street was taken to the hospital Monday for treatment for a badly injured arm.

THOUSANDS DANCE ON CARSON AT EAST TORRANCE JUBILEE

In a splendid spirit of neighborly friendship, residents of Torrance and Keystone joined with those from East Torrance last Friday evening in celebrating the formal opening of West Carson street and the improvement of 600 East Torrance residence lots. It is variously estimated that between 3000 and 5000 persons attended the celebration, and while no accurate count of the attendance was kept, everyone present concedes that it was the largest crowd ever assembled in this part of the county with the single exception of the Pageant of Light commemorating the turning on of the new lighting system in Torrance.

Headed by the Torrance Municipal band under Director Watson, the parade formed at the Cabrillo avenue ball park about 7 o'clock, and marched to the scene of the festivities on West Carson street, in front of the Davis Market.

Carl L. Hyde, secretary of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce, acted as chairman of the short speaking program. He stated that while the newly improved district was outside the corporate limits of the city of Torrance, nevertheless it has much in common with Torrance, and for this reason Torrance people wanted to help the East Torrance people celebrate this occasion. He pointed out that the boundary line between the two cities was merely an imaginary line and that in reality the districts were one growing industrial center. "The growth and development of any part of this area is beneficial to all of the district, and we endorse the opportunity of celebrating with you in East Torrance and compliment you on the splendid improvements you have made," said Mr. Hyde. "It is our happy privilege to be allowed to cooperate with you in this small way to fittingly dedicate this important work."

Harry H. Dolley, president of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce, then made a few remarks, in which he endorsed the sentiment expressed by Mr. Hyde. "I can remember," said Mr. Dolley, "when there were only two or three homes in this district, and we always considered them as part of the family with us in Torrance. Now, that you have grown so wonderfully, we are proud to be given the opportunity of celebrating your improvement and to realize that you are still part of the one big family of Greater Torrance. We can help you and you can help us in building a great industrial and residential center in Southern California."

G. A. Maxwell, acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Dennis, spoke briefly, stating that he was glad to bring the greetings and best wishes of the Torrance people, all of whom were greatly interested in the development of the East Torrance district.

"Chick" Henning Talks

A. E. "Chick" Henning, councilman of the 15th district of the Los Angeles City Council, gave some very enlightening data on the activities in the East Torrance district, which is part of the 15th district represented by Councilman Henning.

Councilman Henning stated that the rough spot on Carson street at the intersection of Normandie avenue would be re-paved with the improvement of Normandie avenue. He stated that the County Board of Supervisors had passed a resolution for an appropriation toward the cost of improving Normandie avenue from 182nd street to 225th street. Work on Normandie avenue north of 182nd street is already under way. It will be a 100 foot street with concrete paving 70 feet wide from curb to curb.

Sewers

In regard to the sewer hook-up with the metropolitan system, Councilman Henning said that the element that was holding up the proceeding was the difficulty at Harbor City over the outfall sewer. Harbor City, East Torrance and Gardena had previously been included in the same sewer district, and the Los Angeles Council could not approve a hook-up with the metropolitan sewer system until the outfall had been established.

However, through the efforts of Councilman Henning, the East Torrance and Gardena district had recently been separated from that of Harbor City district and that he expected the City Council to authorize the sewer hook-up very soon, as both the East Torrance and Gardena areas were back of the concentration plant at Harbor City and the sewage from the districts north of this plant could be treated in the Harbor City plant until such time as the outfall controversy has been settled.

Councilman Henning stated that he expected the sewer hook-up in East Torrance would be taken care of so that by the time the district now being improved south of Carson street was completed, the entire area both north and south of Carson street would be connected with the metropolitan sewer system.

Water

In respect to the water in the new district, Councilman Henning stated that work is going forward to connect the entire East Torrance district with the Los Angeles system of water distribution, but that pending that extension, East Torrance would be given water service from the Dominguez Water Company wells.

Speed Work

"I want you good folks to realize," said Councilman Henning, "that everything possible will be done to expedite the improvement work in East Torrance, but the City of Los Angeles is an enormous territory and there are certain formalities that must be adhered to. However, I am watching the work in this district and give you my pledge that all improvement work will go forward as rapidly as possible. Nothing will be allowed to lag."

Thanks Torrance

Councilman Henning also expressed his gratitude to the people of Torrance for the splendid spirit of neighborly friendship as shown by their part in this celebration.

"You have a big future ahead of you," said Councilman Henning, "and you are going about it in a big way."

E. H. Marsh

E. H. Marsh, newly elected president of the East Torrance Chamber of Commerce, acknowledged the good wishes of the previous speaker and expressed the wish that
